We are committed to being transparent about how we collect and use your personal data and meeting our data protection obligations. As a controller, we collect and process personal data about you when we handle your job application and during the recruiting process.

2.3 As a general rule, we only collect personal data about you directly from you and from references in agreement with you. If specific circumstances allow or require us to collect personal data about you from third parties, we will only do so when relevant and to the extent necessary.

2.4 If we need to collect more personal data than what is specified above, we will inform about this.

3 Purposes for processing the personal data.

3.1 The personal data we collect about you are processed for the following purposes:

- a) To process job applications and recruit relevant candidates.
- b) To collect, process, and store personal data to the extent required under applicable law, including applicable employment legislation.

- c) To be able to create and maintain a directory of relevant candidates for positions in BASE.
- d) To prevent fraud in relation to the recruitment process.

4 Legal basis for processing personal data

4.1 We only process your personal data when we have a legal basis to do so in accordance with the GDPR. Depending on the specific circumstances, the processing of personal data is done on the following legal bases:

- a) The processing is necessary to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract, in accordance with GDPR, Article 6(1)(b).
- b) The processing is necessary to comply with applicable legislation, in accordance with GDPR, Article 6(1)(c), including any specific rules on the processing of personal data in the employment context as provided in GDPR, Article 88.
- c) The processing is necessary and carried out in BASE's legitimate interests and not overridden by your data protection interests or fundamental rights and freedoms, in accordance with GDPR, Article 6(1)(f).
- d) If we have asked for your consent to process some specific personal data, the legal basis for the processing of such personal data is your consent, in accordance with GDPR, Article 6(1)(a). You can always withdraw your consent by contacting us via the contact details provided at the end of this Policy. If the consent is withdrawn, the personal data processed on the basis of your consent will be deleted, unless it can or must be processed, for example, to comply with legal obligations.

5 Disclosure and transfer of personal data

5.1 We only share personal data with third parties when legally permitted or required.

5.2 We transfer personal data to our processors from the EU/EEA: From time to time, we use various external and professional organizations (third parties) as suppliers and collaborators to assist us in delivering our services and products. The third parties will not receive or process personal data unless the applicable law allows for such transfer and processing. Where the third parties are processors, the processing is always performed on the basis of a data processing agreement and in accordance with the requirements under GDPR. Where the third parties are controllers, the processing of personal data will be performed based on the controller's data privacy policy and legal basis that the external parties are obligated to inform about unless the applicable legislation allows otherwise.

5.3 We transfer personal data to countries or international organizations outside the EU/ EEA: We transfer Personal Data to United Kingdom, Switzerland, and United States of America. The basis for such a transfer is an adequacy decision by the European Commission, which generally provides for adequate data protection through legislation or through other measures. Personal data transferred to India is not subject to an article 45 adequacy decision.

5.4 Personal data is also transferred to our parent company, Infosys in India. Such transfers are based on the standard contractual clauses about data protection made or approved by the EU Commission and possibly approved by a national data protection agency, ensuring a sufficient level of protection.

5.5 If you have any questions about our use of processors, cooperation with other controllers, including subsidiary companies, or transfer of data to third countries, please contact us for more information or documentation of our legal basis for such transfers.

6 Erasure and retention of personal data

6.1 We ensure that your personal data is deleted when it is no longer relevant for the processing purposes as described above. We always retain personal data to the extent that we have a legal obligation, such as for example in the case of employment legislation.

If you are offered a position and become an employee in BASE your personal data from the job application and data from the recruiting process are transferred/moved to our regular HR management system.

If you are not offered a position in BASE, your personal data is erased after 6 months in accordance with applicable law. Notwithstanding the above, specific reasons related to employment law may necessitate the continuous processing of personal data. This may have different implications. For example, we may process the applications for a longer period to prove that there was no unlawful discrimination in the selection process when we consider this necessary. Similarly, it may be relevant to process the personal data for a limited period if a similar relevant position may become available during this period, or if another candidate opts out of the recruiting process.

If you have any questions about our retention of your personal data, please contact us by using the email mentioned under the last section of this Policy.

6.2 If you consent to a longer retention period, we follow such period, for example, if we process the job application in such a limited period to be able to contact you again in case of a suitable vacancy.
